THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT THE GREAT FAMILY MEDICINE

Thedford's Black-Draught has saved doctors' bills for more than sixty years. For the common family ailments, such as constipation, indigestion, hard colds, bowel complaints, chills and fever, biliousness, headaches and other like complaints no other medicine is necessary. It invigorates and regulates the liver, assists digestion, stimulates action of the kidneys, purifies the blood, and purges the bowels of foul accumulations. It cures liver complaint, indigestion, sour stomach, dizziness, chills, rheumatic pains, sideache, backache, kidney troubles, constipation, diarrhœa, biliousness, piles, hard colds and headache. Every druggist has Thedford's Black-Draught in 25 cent packages and in mammoth size for $1.00. Never accept a substitute. Insist on having the original made by the Chattanooga Medicine Company.

I believe Thedford's Black-Draught is the best medicine on earth. It is good for any and everything. I have a family of twelve children, and for four years I have kept them on foot and healthy with no doctor but Black-Draught. A. J. GREEN, Illewara, La.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y.
The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation.
With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

GABRIELLE'S WOOING

By IZOLA FORRESTER

Copyright, 1902, by McClure's Newspaper Syndicate

When Put Mandego came down the straits from Chicago way, every girl from Mackinac to Moose island sent out her heart to greet the dirty gray sails of his schooner.

Not to greet Put; no, indeed. For fifteen years he had passed through the straits once a week from May to November, and not a girl had waved her hand to him except Joe Nevaire's Gabrielle. She had watched for him from the first year when he had swabbed the decks of the Bon Ami, and now the last year he returned her master, steering her as captain and owner both. The word had gone before him like a silver tongued herald that with the schooner had also come to him as an inheritance from old Scott Mandego, his father, the little house down on Mandego point and a matter of $2,000 or $3,000.

So Put sailed as a conqueror, and of all the bright eyes along the shore that glanced to greet him the only ones which lured him on belonged to Gay Nevaire and were the only pair that had no welcome for him.

It was the first time in all the fifteen years. As a boy he had rowed over to the island to chat with Joe and watch him mend the great sails that were sent to him from the twin shores and weave and knot his fish nets. Joe's deft fingers were as noted along the straits as the black eyes and red lips of his five daughters.

And Gay was the youngest. She was eighteen now, slim and dark eyed, with the poise and step of a demoiselle of Gascony and a wondrous trick of the eyes, a sidelong look between narrowed lids, with long curved lashes to cast a shade. All of Nevaire's girls had it, but little Gabrielle had it worst, and it took the heart out of a man.

Only a mile to the southeast of Moose island lies Mandego point. From his shore on a sunny day Put could catch the flash of a pink petticoat here and there around the old weather beaten cabin, but the courage never came to him to seek her and tell her what had been in his heart all the way from Chicago.

"You forget old friends when the good luck flies your way. Is it not so, Put?" laughed old Nevaire when they met at the half breed Petit Jean's place on the mainland. "Is it Marie? Fanchon? Babette? Elise? No? Mon Dieu, it is the little one, then?"

"It is Gabrielle," said Put stolidly. However he might fear his love, he had no fear for Nevaire himself nor ten like him. "But she has no smiles for me this year," he added moodily.

Joe laughed more. Did the wild duck flutter near until she heard the decoy? Was Gay a girl to lay her heart bare before she was wooed?

Put listened and smiled as he awakened to his folly.

"I will woo her," he said, and he kept his word. He sent Danny Dermot, his successor to the deck swabbing question on the Bon Ami.

Danny was blue eyed, the best dancer along the shore and still a winter's length from twenty. He listened to Put's instructions of what he should tell his love and straightway forgot Put and all else as he leaned across the open window sill at Nevaire's chatting with Gabrielle and catching the trick of her long dark eyes.

The dreamy golden days of summer passed, and the sumac flaunted scarlet banners on every hillside that dipped to meet the straits, and still the Bon Ami swung idly on her ropes at the old half sunk landing at Mandego point. Put's pulses leaped every time he looked from her to the broad sweep of blue water that called to him to come back, but every breeze that circled around the point bore the love of his heart to Gabrielle as it danced on down to the island, so he stayed on and trusted his fate to Danny's soft tongue.

Under the rose vine Gabrielle would listen, a rose stem between her teeth, while Danny spoke of Mandego point.

"He's too old for you, Gay, darling. It's thirty-two he is if he's a day, and the old devil thinks you'll fly like a bird to him if he only whistles. And it's lonesome down there on the point. You can't see the Mackinac lights dancing a jig with themselves in the water the way you can here. And it isn't a thousand at all, Gay, darling. It's only a hundred or so, and the old man will soon drink that up over at Petit Jean's. So you see it won't be riches at all that Mrs. Mandego will be getting, but old Put himself. Do you mind me, Gay, darling?"

Gabrielle's white teeth closed over the heart of the rose, and she ate its sweet petals in silence, but her eyes looked sidelong at Danny.

"And the Tidy Adly of Petoskey sails on Tuesday, Gay." Danny reached up and plucked a rose that touched the girl's bowed head. "I've the promise of a berth on her at the wheel. It is better than the deck on the Bon Ami, Gay, and if you say the word you can kiss your sweet hand to Chicago as Mrs. Dermot in a week. Could you be ready by Tuesday, Gay, heart?"

Gabrielle looked off up the straits to where Mandego point lay like an amethyst shadow at the curve of the Michigan shore line, and her eyes were tender and dreamy.

"Tell Put Mandego to come for his answer himself like a man, Danny," she said. "Tell him that from me today, and if he is not here on the island by Monday night then I will sail on the Tidy Adly."

"It's at sunrise I'll come for you, Mrs. Dermot," laughed Danny, and Gabrielle smiled and waved her hand to him as he passed jauntily down the clover bordered path to the beach. But she was thinking of Put—Put in his strength and shyness—and of how he would come that very night for his answer.

But the twilight passed, and the moon rose above the pines on the headland, and no boat put out from Mandego point until daybreak, when Put pulled over to the mainland with never a backward glance at Nevaire's island.

Never once did Danny go near the island. He was too busy keeping Put's head turned toward the mainland, and day by day the fire flashed in Gabrielle's dark eyes and her little pointed chin tilted higher as she looked toward Mandego point and waited.

It was a night of early autumn glory, Monday. The September moon rose like a great flame colored flower above the crest of Mackinac, and by the time it had reached midheaven the glamour of its golden witchery spread over the face of the waters like a magic spell.

Gabrielle watched it from the tall sand dunes, the ones where Put had borne her on his shoulder to watch the boats come up the straits. There was no light on Mandego point, but the night was clear and bright, and she caught the sparkle of dripping oars as a boat shot out from the shadows of the mainland into the broad path of moonbeams that bridged the way to the point. There were two figures in the boat. She held her breath, striving to catch the sound of voices on the still night air, but instead from out the darkness toward Mackinac came three long deep signals. Gabrielle started to her feet at the sound. It was the North Queen bound for Buffalo, and in her course lay the boat.

Suddenly she saw that Danny had shipped his oars and was standing. She knew his slight form instantly, but the man at the rudder never stirred. Danny bent over him a moment as if to reassure himself, then slipped overboard into the water and made for the mainland with long, sure strokes.

An instant and Gabrielle hesitated. Again the North Queen signaled, and her port lights showed bright and clear as she swept past the great, shadowy Mackinac island and came on like a phantom ship of the night.

And, for the rest, they tell it at Petit Jean's, and blind Louis made a song of it and of Gabrielle, who sailed a bride on the Bon Ami, with Put Mandego captain. They show the wreck of her boat where the North Queen crushed it like a crumpled autumn leaf, for out into the waters of the straits went Gabrielle that night, with only the hope of her love to give her strength, and in the drifting boat she found Put, dead to the world from Petit Jean's brandy and left to drift to his death by Danny Dermot. Leaving her own boat in its place, she had rowed the other out of the moonbeam path just as the great steamer bore down upon her course.

At dawn next morning Put stood on the sand dunes of Nevaire's island and watched the Tidy Adly put out for Lake Michigan, but no farewell was waved from her decks by Danny. The North Queen caught him fairly as she rounded Mandego point, and blind Louis stumbled over what was left when he walked the shore below the point after the Bon Ami had sailed on her honeymoon trip.

Old English Halfpence.

How many collectors of coins know anything about the curious halfpence issued centuries ago by English authorities—halfpence in the truest sense of the word, since they were nothing more than minted pennies cut directly in half? Specimens of these coins have been discovered frequently among the buried treasures which from time to time have been unearthed in Great Britain. In Lancashire in 1840 were found a rare lot of coins, among which were several pennies of the time of Alfred and Edward divided in this way.

Similarly divided pence of the time of Edward the Confessor have been found, and in speaking of the discovery in 1833 of a number of these curious halfpence of the time of William the Conqueror an unquestioned authority states that they were probably issued from the mints in that form, since the whole collection had evidently been in circulation.

In the British museum in London are specimens of these divided coins issued under various monarchs from Alfred to Henry III. An eminent archæologist accounts for the divided coins by saying that this doubtless arose from the scarcity of small change, which was in part remedied under the reign of Edward I. by the coinage of halfpence and farthings.

Why Women Are Afraid of Mice.

In all ages women were supposed to be more prone to superstition than men, and who knows but that the dread of a woman on the appearance of a rat or a mouse may not be due, in part at least, to an ancient superstition which has traveled down the ages from the time when our remote forefathers believed that rats and mice were the souls of the departed? Numerous are the stories which made the ancients believe that souls were rats and mice, and some of these stories are very curious.

"In Thuringia, at Saalfeld," says Baring-Gould, "a servant girl fell asleep while her companions were shelling nuts. They observed a little red mouse creep from her mouth and run out of the window. One of the fellows present shook the sleeper, but could not wake her, so he moved her to another place. Presently the mouse ran back to the former place and dashed about seeking the girl. Not finding her, it vanished. At the same moment the girl died."

Use Coulson's Egg Food. . . .

Some people may have an idea that a balanced ration for poultry means only a mixture of grains. Coulson's Balanced Ration Egg Food contains besides grains a certain amount of Capsicum, which is worth at retail 35 cens a pound. It contains sulphate of iron, ginger, and other condiments.

It also contains pure flaxseed meal, worth at drug stores 10 cents a pound; also pure willow charcoal, sold at drug stores at 5 cents an ounce; also charred bone; also pure dried beef blood from eastern packing houses; also fresh ground raw bone; also rich meals, etc.; and all thoroughly mixed together in proper proportion, making the very best food for egg production.

It is so rich that a hen cannot eat as much of it as of ordinary food. It order to manufacture this feed and sell it at such a reasonable price we buy thousands of sacks of grains and meals and the condiments by the ton. If you want your hens to lay plenty of eggs and make money for you, be good to your hens and give them Coulson's Balanced Ration Egg Food. Two thousand sacks of it sold last month.

Price, 1 sack, $1.65; 10-sack lots or more at $1.50 a sack.

Look for the name Coulson on the sack, as some stores may try to sell you something else that they can make more profit on.

Woman's Club and the Plaza---A Suggestion.

The Woman's Club of Sonoma Valley has undertaken the herculean task of improving and beautifying Sonoma's eight-acre Plaza. The club has already expended something like $400 in making and graveling walks and cross walks. Notwithstanding the expenditure of this money, at a cursory glance the Plaza looks about the same as it did before the ladies took hold of the proposition. This is no fault of theirs, however, and may be the fault of the donor who gave an eight-acre Plaza to a one-acre town. In other words, the Woman's Club in its laudable undertaking is handicapped not only by a Plaza too large in area for a town of Sonoma's size and pretentions, but their plans have been hampered by two City Trustees, we refer to Messrs. Poppe and Breitenbach, who are not in sympathy with this commendable public improvement but are even hostile to everything else for the betterment of local conditions such as a Board of Health, a street lighting service and a new city hall. So little help and encouragement can be expected from that source as those two Trustees constitute a majority of the Plaza Committee of the town council. Therefore it will be next to impossible for the ladies to raise the necessary funds to hire the work done.

This being the case, we would suggest, provided the ladies will entertain a suggestion coming from a genus homo, whom we assure them has no intention of interfering in any wise with their plans in this direction. But the INDEX-TRIBUNE always has and always will take a lively interest in all things appertaining to the advancement of town and valley, and we cannot refrain, now and then, from taking a hand in matters of general interest. That is what we are here for.

In view of the strenuous task the Woman's Club has set out to perform in the beautifying of the Sonoma Plaza, and the handicapping that has confronted it at the very outset, our suggestion is this: Let the seventy or more members be divided into phalanxs of six or eight ladies. To each of these phalanxs there may be allotted a one-eighth or one sixteenth part of the Plaza for each particular phalanx to beautify and care for. These eight or ten groups would naturally enter upon the task with a vim and vie one with the other in bringing the particular spot allotted to each up to the very highest state of perfection in floraculture. The fathers, husbands, brothers and sons of the ladies would then without a doubt fall into line and do their share to help out that particular phalanx to which the mother, wife, daughter or sister may belong. In this way our eight-acre Plaza, it seems to us, could be easily, quickly and economically converted into refreshing green lawns and bright-hued flowers.

This plan, in our humble opinion, will solve the Plaza enigma and pave the way, in the absence of bushels of money to carry out a project that the Woman's Club is more than brave to face without the wealth of Crœsus at its back.

A Valuable Map.

The California Promotion Committee has issued a splendid map of the State which will be furnished any one who desires it. The size of the map is 23 by 27 inches. The map has been compiled with great care, and is strictly up to date. It is so systematically arranged that no one will have difficulty in identifying any location, or in finding distances. A remarkable feature about this map is that it gives in detail the chief horticultural, agricultural and mineral products of California classified in counties. It also gives a miscellaneous list of industries, and it is valuable to a prospective settler for the fact that he can tell immediately by looking at the classification table where the various products are grown, how the localities are reached, etc. The map also gives the population of the different cities and towns and the county seats of the different counties together with the distance of same from San Francisco. It is printed in colors, each shade having a signification. Altogether the map is the most complete and handy map of the State ever published.

A Storiette for Women.

THE SECRET OF HER BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION.

Ida and Marian sat talking in the dressing room.

"I tell you what it is Marian (and she drew her chair closer), your complexion has undergone a great change. You look so different, quite different from what you did three months ago."

"Do I look so changed?" asked Marian innocently.

"Of course you do, and you know you do. That is the aggravating part of it, deary. Come, tell me. Have you been making up?"

Marian answered with a laugh.

"What a beast you are. What sort of rouge do you use to get that color?"

Just then brother Tom came in, having returned from the medical college on his holiday vacation.

"What was Ida calling you names for, Sis?" asked brother Tom.

"I want to know where she gets that stuff she puts on her face to give her that color and she won't tell me."

"Marian did not get that color from any shop, if that's what you mean," said Tom seriously.

"Marian can fool you as well as she fools everybody else," said Ida.

Brother Tom shook his head.

"The leopard cannot change his spots, and a girl cannot change her complexion," persisted Ida.

"Anything can be done if you only know how," said Tom. "I'll tell you how to do it. In the first place, you girls do not look after your physical conditions seriously enough. A young and growing girl (and mature people as well) should occasionally use a gentle laxative pill. I think Dr. R. V. Pierce, who founded the Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N.Y., has the best, and they can readily be obtained at almost every drug store. They are called Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I have examined them and know them to be entirely vegetable in their ingredients. They act mildly and gently. Such a laxative should be taken occasionally by every individual when the liver is sluggish, the stomach sour, or the tongue coated. In the second place, the real reason for her beautiful complexion is the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I advised Marian to take this three times a day. She has done so for the past three weeks, and you see the result. It is a medicine which is entirely vegetable and does not contain either alcohol or narcotics. It therefore cannot harm, and I am sure it would do you a great deal of good. Not only does it strengthen, but like the governor on an engine, certainly regulates the entire feminine system."

"Yes," said Marian, "it not only has undoubtedly improved my looks, but I no longer have those nervous feelings, feelings of weariness, backache and terrible blue spells. Then too, Ida, it has taken away those black circles or rings which you used to see under my eyes. Is it not true?"

"This is what a lady wrote me concerning the good the Favorite Prescription might do me if I took it. I found her name and address in one of those little memorandum books of Dr. Pierce that are distributed from house to house. Here it is:

"I wish to inform you how much Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has benefited me," wrote Miss Ray Traver, of Medusa, N. Y. "I call myself cured. My complaints were the usual womanly troubles, which gave me also palpitation of the heart, frequent headaches, and numerous other things. I had almost given up hope of ever being any better but this medicine has worked wonders in my case. Two doctors failed to do me any good and I wrote to Dr. Pierce with but little courage but he wrote such a good, encouraging letter, my husband got five bottles at once, and before I had taken all of the second I felt much better. I shall always speak highly of Dr. Pierce's medicines. I am working very hard now, and have been all spring and summer so far, and feel so proud to think I can. I say to every one it was Dr. Pierce's medicines that cured me."

IT STANDS ALONE.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription stands alone, as the one and only remedy for leucorrhea, female weakness, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, so absolutely specific and sure in curing these common ailments of women, as to warrant its makers in offering to pay, as they hereby do, the sum of $500 reward for a case of the above maladies which they can not cure. This is a remarkable offer. No other medicine for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments is backed by such a remarkable guarantee. No other medicine for woman's ills is possessed of the unparalleled curative properties that would warrant its makers in publishing such an offer; no other remedy has such a record of a third of a century of cures on which to base such a remarkable offer.

M. U. McClendon, Esq., Merchant, Gravelridge, Ark., writes: "My wife (Mrs. L. L. McClendon) was confined to room and bed for some time with indigestion and female trouble. Was unable at times to walk across the room. We tried two as good doctors as I thought could be found in our part of the country. Neither of them did her any good. Afterward she decided to write to Dr. Pierce for advice. I thought it not wise as I was sure she would be buried before she could receive an answer but she commenced on your remedies and I could see that she was some better by the time she had taken the third bottle. We continued the use of the medicine quite a while and now she does all the housework, and stood the examination for life insurance all O. K. Any one who so wishes may write to me at my place of abode."

Miss Emma Weller, who is Secretary of the Young People's Christian Association, at 1818 Madison Avenue, New York City, says: "Your 'Favorite Prescription' is a boon to sick and tired women, for it cures them when other medicines fail. I know whereof I speak, for I have had experience with it. For fourteen months I had constant headaches; seemed too weak to perform my daily duties, and when the day was over I was too tired to sleep well. I suffered from nervousness and indigestion, and everything I ate distressed me. Doctored with different physicians but received no relief. After reading one of your books I decided to give your 'Favorite Prescription' a trial. Am very glad I did, for I found it was just what I wanted. I commenced to improve at once and kept getting better until, after seven weeks, I was entirely cured. I have remained in perfect health ever since, and remain a firm friend of your 'Favorite Prescription.'"

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" is only seeking to make the little more profit afforded by a less meritorious medicine. His profit is your loss. Therefore, turn your back on him as unworthy of your patronage.

Wakeful Children.

For a long time the two year old child of Mr. P. L. McPherson, 59 N. Tenth St., Harrisburg, Pa., would sleep but two or three hours in the early part of the night, which made it very hard for her parents. Her mother concluded that the child had stomach trouble, and gave her half of one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which quieted her stomach and she slept the whole night through. Two boxes of these Tablets have effected a permanent cure and she is now well and strong. For sale by F. Duhring. *

EL VERANO.

By Happy Hooligan

Carlos Emparan and Jack Modin of Sonoma were here Tuesday.

Leo Baines has opened a bicycle repairing shop in this place.

Wm. Chance will shortly leave for Utah, where he will make his future home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lewis and daughter have returned from a short visit to Sacramento.

El Verano is to have another saloon. It will be located opposite the French Cottage.

Mike Weimer, the Bellevue Hotel barber, has purchased new fixtures for his shop.

Louis Kearney, superintendent of the County Farm near Santa Rosa, visited in this place Sunday.

Jack Watt of Schellville passed through here Tuesday en route to St. Dominie's picnic at Glen Ellen.

Tony Serres, the polite clerk of the Bellevue Hotel, visited the metropolis the fore part of the week.

Riverside avenue is now being sprinkled, thanks to the petition recently circulated by L. McDonough.

The bridge that crosses the creek between the Bellevue Hotel and Weaver's blacksmith shop is sadly in need of repairs.

E. A. Riser and daughter, Miss Helen Riser, were passengers on the south-bound Southern Pacific train Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Raney (nee Carmer) came up from San Francisco Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Carmer.

Jack Kearney, Harry Baines, Joe Murphy and Hugh Chance were among the many El Veranoites who took in the baseball game in Sonoma last Sunday.

The Bellevue Hotel is crowded with summer visitors. This popular resort is now under the management of John Serres, who is the right man in the right place.

A. W. Weaver left for his gold mine in Tuolumne county Tuesday. He will be absent when the school trustee election is held here on June 5th and no one will know how to vote in his absence, as he is the rising politician of this burg.

The El Verano twilers are out of luck. Three weeks have now gone by and none of the nines have taken up the challenge published in the INDEX-TRIBUNE. It looks as though all the teams in the valley are afraid of the El Verano boys.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Polk, who have been residing on the C. T. Wilkinson ranch the past three months, have moved to Sonoma and taken up their residence in one of Dal Pogetto's cottages on Broadway. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Polk good luck in their new home.

The voters of this town should keep their eyes open on June 5th when the election for School Trustees will be held. "Happy Hooligan," who is wide awake and not fast asleep, has learned that a "dark horse" for Trustee is to be put into the field in this place. This was done here once before and the voters should see to it that they are not again sidetracked by scheming would be local politicians with axes to grind.

Dave Levy, brother of Rube Levy the famous umpire of San Francisco, umpired the baseball game in Sonoma last Sunday. Mr. Levy, who is a guest at the Bellevue in this place, offered his services free of charge as umpire. The young man was captain and pitcher of the Santa Rosa team in the early nineties that won the Examiner trophy for being the best professional team in the State. Mr. Levy also won the game played in San Francisco between the Firemen and Policemen a few months ago, making the three runs for the former that gave it the game, the score being 2 to 3. The people of this place wish to thank Mr. Levy, through the columns of the INDEX-TRIBUNE, which is their local newspaper, for his kindness and generosity in volunteering his services as umpire for last Sunday's ball game in Sonoma. His umpiring was satisfactory to everybody who watched the game.

RESTORATION OF OLD LAND MARKS.

The Y. M. I. of Sonoma Will Assist in Increasing the "Examiner" Fund.

Great interest is being manifested in every section of the State in the movement recently inaugurated by W. R. Hearst and The Examiner to raise by popular subscription the necessary funds to purchase and restore all that is now left of California's ancient land marks of which the old Mission buildings of Sonoma are among the most noted.

The Young Men's Institute of Sonoma is the first local organization to take the matter up of helping the laudable undertaking along. At a recent meeting of Sonoma Valley Council, No. 45, it was unanimously decided to give an entertainment and dance in this place, the net proceeds of which will be donated toward the purchase of the Mission of San Francisco Solano buildings in this place and added to the Examiner fund. These buildings, especially the old chapel now used for the storage of hay, are in a fair state of preservation. They are located in the heart of the town and for many years have been objects of great curiosity to visitors from abroad, while attracting little or no attention from home people who appear never to have realized their true worth as historical relics.

In the purchase and restoration of these buildings it is The Examiner's idea to preserve the structures in their primitiveness and beautify the grounds surrounding them. Handsome and substantial fences will be built, flower gardens laid out, lawns planted and playing fountains, or something of that sort, will be placed here and there.

The preservation of Sonoma's historical buildings will mean much for the town, for it will not only give its people a beautiful improvement but will also attract hither in the course of time thousands of visitors from abroad, who will view with something akin to awe those ancient structures with their adobe walls, hewen timbers, wooden nails and tiled roofs.

The Young Mens' Institute benefit will be given in Union Hall on Wednesday evening, June 10th, and should be patronized by every man, woman and child in the valley, as the object to be attained is one of great local interest, which through the efforts of Mr. Hearst and his newspaper is eliciting interest all over the State and contributions to the fund are coming in even outside of California.

SHAY VS. BARLEY.

An Appeal From Judge Small on Trial in the Superior Court.

Some months ago, Annie B. Shay, formerly Mrs. Dr. Howe, commenced an action in the Justice's Court in this palce to recover the sum of $290 from A. M. Barley, value of personal property alleged by the plaintfff to have been placed in the keeping of Mr. Barley. This personal property consisted of horses, cows, vehicles and farming implements which Barley claimed were sold to him when he bought the ranch from Mrs. Shay which was recently foreclosed by her. Judge Small gave judgment for Mrs. Shay and Mr. Barley appealed to the Superior Court. The case came up for trial before Judge Burnett last Tuesday. Lawyers E. A. Meyer and Ben S. Wood Jr. are attorneys for Mr. Barley. Mrs. Shay is represented by M. C. Chapman of Alameda.

The testimony was all in late in the afternoon. The case was then submitted and taken under advisement by Judge Burnett.

The Republican, in commenting on the case, says that a startling discrepancy in the testimony caused Judge Burnett to make some caustic remarks from the bench concerning perjury in the case. Mr. Barley and his two sons, Ernest and Harry Barley, testified to meetin' Mrs. Shay in San Francisco within a few days of Thanksgiving day, 1891, and stated a conversation which they alleged had taken place between Mrs. Shay and the elder Barley at that time. Mrs. Shay later took the stand and positively stated that she was not in San Francisco during November of that year. The evidence was otherwise contradictory and his honor will have to determine between the contestants.

The Daily Bulletin and Index-Tribune $7 per year.

GLEN ELLEN

By Chappie.

Mrs F. Ehrlich and daughter, Mrs. McKeon, are guests at the Justi ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Cutter spent Tuesday in Sonoma visiting Mr. Cutter's mother.

Mrs. Reed is visiting her ranch in the foothills and expects to remain all summer.

Miss Mary McCotry and Mrs. C E. Cook are stopping at "Glen Oaks," the Quien ranch.

Dr. C. C. O'Donnell's brick plant is now in full blast and is turning out brick by the thousand.

Mr. Panctatzy is making quite extensive improvements on his property recently purchased here.

Judge Carrol Cook and family have arrived in Glen Ellen to spend the summer on their ranch.

J. Chauvet, injured in a runaway accident last week, is rapidly improving under Dr. Crepin's skillful treatment.

Mrs. Teresa Bell has leased the Beltaine ranch near Glen Ellen to Bianchi brothers for a term of years, reserving the right to prospect for oil.

How is this for Glen Ellen? W. L. Ashe has just cut his first crop of alfalfa from seed planted last fall. The yield was two tons to the acre.

E. M. Gender has just completed decorating the interior of his hotel. The bar room is an exquisite piece of workmanship. It is finished in an artistic manner—a work of art.

A. E. Gaige's slaughter house was burglarized last Saturday night. The thieves took half a hog and not wishing to be too "hoggish" left the other half for Gaige.

The town is filling up rapidly with summer boarders. If the rush continues it will tax the capacity of our resorts to their utmost to accommodate the visitors.

We are very proud of our gold mine. It is coming to the fore and fulfilling all our expectations. Each week as it passes by gives a better showing. It is all right.

Ed. Skahan is now in San Francisco buying supplies for his stores. If his business continues to increase he will have to employ a resident buyer. He is a wide-awake man and has worksd up a wonderful business here.

Mr. John Yaghts, of San Francisco, who is connected with the Goodyear Rubber Company, is taking his regular yearly outing. He has hung up his hat at the Ross ranch house. He is enjoying country life chasing jack rabbits and other game, which abounds in this vicinity.

Cellestinea Guidotti got loaded up on red paint Monday night and essayed to run the town. He made a murderous attack with a pistol on Jerry Allen, the Deputy Sheriff. Guidotti was finally overpowered, handcuffed and taken to Santa Rosa, where he was committed to jail on a charge of attempt to commit murder without bail. This man has the reputation of being a desperate character and the authorities ought to see to it that he gets his just deserts.

The population of our little burg increased by about three thousand last Tuesday when St. Dominie's picnic landed here. From 11 A. M. until 5 P. M. everybody was kept busy. The picnicers consumed everything eatable and drinkable in the town and had a merry time. It was about as nice a picnic as was ever in Glen Ellen—jolly but orderly. It was well conducted and the priests who had charge of the affair deserve much credit and praise. The visitors left with a warm corner in their hearts for Glen Ellen.

SONOMA'S FREE RURAL DELIVERY

Some Interesting Data in Connection With the Service.

Edward G. Guyot, our local rural letter carrier, reports that the amount of mail delivered on Sonoma's rural free delivery route in the thirty-two months of its existence to April 30th last to be as follows:

Number pieces delivered first year		26,541
" " collected " "		4,691
" " delivered 2d "		32,897
" " collected " "		5,876
" " delivered last 8 mos		23,241
" " collected " "		3,479
Total delivered and collected		96,725

The number of applications for money orders received was 143; letters and packages registered, 15; number of registered letters and packages delivered, 140; the amount of stamps canceled since March, 1901, was $240.04.

In handling the above mail only eleven slight errors were committed, the most of them being made during the first few months of the service, and they were all promptly rectified. No mail has been lost or reported stolen from the boxes.

The route is 25 miles long, and serves about 375 people. The carrier, who is a regularly sworn and bonded officer of the postoffice department makes one trip daily, except Sunday, leaving the Sonoma postoffice at 11 A. M. He carries with him on every trip a supply of postage stamps, postal cards, stamped envelopes, etc., and is prepared to properly register letters or parcels, and to receive money for postal orders. All who reside on the route should avail themselves of the advantages of a free daily mail delivery, not only because of its convenience, but because it also increases the value of farm property and makes it easier to rent or sell. Mail boxes approved by the P. O. department may be obtained free by applying to the carrier.

Coyotes.

A coyote hunt will be inaugurated on Mrs. R. J. Snyder's big stock farm a few miles east of town this morning. The chase will be led by Jim Cowen, the noted hunter of Kenwood, and his pack of intelligent hounds. There are several large bands of coyotes on Mrs. Snyder's ranch and the thieving animals have become very bold of late.

Schellville News Items.

Miss Grace Lawler is visiting relatives in Petaluma.

Mr. Rex Bord was a visitor in the metropolis Saturday.

Miss Evelyn Waugaman spent Saturday and Sunday in the bay city.

Mrs. Johannsen spent Wednesday with her daughter Mrs. D. Volquardsen of this place.

The many friends of Mr. Jas. McMackin will be sorry to learn that he has been quite ill this week.

We hear from dame rumor that the merry sound of wedding bells will soon be heard ringing in Schellville and as Schellville has many fair belles we doubt not the report.

WATER AS MEDICINE.

Said to Cure Dyspepsia If Taken In Sufficient Quantities.

A physician has called attention to the use of water not only as a remedial and therapeutic agent, but also as a mechanical agent, in the treatment of certain forms of dyspepsia, especially those forms characterized by a fullness in the left epigastric region, with frequent eructations of sour or acrid matter, accompanied by loss of appetite, insomnia and a mental condition closely allied to melancholia.

Let the patient drink from one to three pints of water one hour before each meal and then comfortably seat himself in an easy rocking chair and rock backward and forward for half an hour. The rocking will agitate the water in the stomach, wash the walls completely, detaching any mucus that may be adhering and dilute and mix the contents thoroughly. By this means absorption will be more rapid, and as a consequence the skin, kidneys and bowels will act more freely, eliminating from the blood uric acid and all effete and deleterious matter, while the stimulus of the water will cause the stomach to contract and gastric juice to be secreted in such quantity as to cause digestion to go on uninterruptedly and painlessly.—Farm and Fireside.

A Historic Lemon.

Who ever thinks of connecting such a commonplace article of diet as the lemon with the romantic history of ill fated Anne Boleyn? Yet indirectly she was the cause of its first introduction into England and so into popular notice. Henry VIII. gave such splendid feasts and pageants in honor of the coronation of Anne and of their previous nuptials as had seldom been accorded to queens of the blood royal. These kingly entertainments were in turn followed by the great civic feasts of London, for which the whole world was searched for delicacies to add to the splendor.

At one such banquet, graced by the presence of the royal pair, a lemon was introduced as an elegant novelty. To an epicure such as Henry the acquisition of a castle in France would have proved less acceptable, and such was the importance attached to the discovery—so says an old biographer—that a special record was made of the fact that the cost of this precious lemon was six silver pennies!

Birdlike Reptiles.

The most birdlike reptiles in the world are the beautiful iguanas of tropical America. The smallest members of this family, belonging to the genus anolis, swarm in the bushes and trees of the West Indies and in many points resemble humming birds. Gosse in "A Naturalist's Sojourn In Jamaica" gives a vivid description of them. On a bright day hundreds of these brilliantly colored creatures may be seen on trees and fences, entertaining visitors by their gambols, leaping from branch to branch, fearlessly entering houses and even alighting on individuals. When irritated, they will suddenly change their brilliant colors for a dull, sooty brown.

Analogous to these, but not nearly so graceful, are the flying lizards of the old world. With hinder ribs prolonged to support a parachute-like expansion, these brightly marked reptiles are often mistaken for birds as they take flying leaps from tree to tree, for they are thoroughly arboreal.

Baldness Due to Indigestion.

"There seem to be fewer baldheaded men than there were years ago," said a physician. "Time was when four out of five men more than forty-five years old were baldheaded or fast approaching that stage. Nowadays the average has fallen nearer to two than to three.

"What's the cause? I suppose there are many reasons, but one certainly is to be found in the general increase of outdoor exercise. Nervous disorders result in the falling out of the hair and impaired digestion brings on nervous disorders. Exercise, as is well known, stimulates digestion, and there above all else is the secret of preserving the hair. Keep your digestion in good condition and your nerves will not trouble you. All the scalp diseases in the catalogue are not responsible for as many baldheads as indigestion."

A Story of Brignoli.

Praise went a long way with Brignoli. One evening at rehearsal in New York the orchestra laid down their instruments as one man and applauded his singing of a favorite song long and vigorously. He was much pleased and, advancing to the footlights with many a bow and smile of satisfaction, said:

"Gentlemen, immediately after the rehearsal there will be a champagne supper at the Everett House. I hope I may have the honor to meet you all there."

It is needless to remark that they were there, every man of them. The supper cost Brignoli $500.

The Noble Character.

Here is Aristotle's definition of a noble character: He does not recollect injustice; for accurate recollection, especially of injuries, is not characteristic of the magnanimous man, but he rather overlooks them. He is not fond of talking of people, for he will neither speak of himself nor anybody else; for he does not care that he himself should be praised nor that others should be blamed.

Patience Rewarded.

Smith—I hear Short, the coal man, has come into a large fortune.

Jones—Well, he's entitled to it.

Smith—Oh, he is, eh?

Jones—Yes; he's been lying in weight for it a good many years.—Chicago News.

There is a pleasure in doing good which sufficiently pays itself.—Vaubrugh.

GREATLY ALARMED

By a Persistent Cough, but Permanently Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mr. H. P. Burbage, a student at law, in Greenville, S. C., had been troubled with a continuous cough which he says, "greatly alarmed me, causing me to fear that I was in the first stage of consumption." Mr. Burbage, having seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised, concluded to try it: "I soon felt a remarkable change and after using two bottles of the twenty-five cent size, was permanently cured." DEAFNESS CURED

Louisville Man Originates a Simple Little Device that Instantly Restores the Hearing --- Fits Perfectly, Comfortably and Does Not Show.

190-page Book Free---Tells all About It.

Since the discovery Louisvilleo f a man it is no longer necessary for any deaf person to carry a trumpet, a tube or any such old-fashioned device, for it is now possible for any one to hear perfectly by a simple invention that fits in the ear and cannot be detected. The honor belongs to Mr. Geo. H. Wilson of Louisville, who was himself deaf, and now hears as well as any one. He calls it Wilson's Common Sense Ear Drum, is built on the strictest scientific principles, containing no metal of any kind, and is entirely new in every respect. It is so small that no one can see it, but nevertheless it collects all sound waves and diverts them against the drum head, causing you to hear perfectly. It will do this even when the natural ear drums are partially or entirely destroyed, perforated, scarred, relaxed or thickened. It fits any ear from childhood to old age, and aside from the fact that it does not show, it never causes the hearer irritation, and can be used with comfort day or night.

It will cure deafness in any person no matter how acquired, whether from catarrh, scarlet fever, typhoid or brain fever, measles, whooping cough, gathering in the ear, shocks from artillery or through accidents. It not only cures but stays the progress of deafness and all roaring and buzzing noises. It does this in a simple, sure and scientific way. The effect is immediate.

Let every person who needs this, at once send to the company for its 190-page book, which you can have free. It describes and illustrates Wilson's Common Sense Ear Drums and contains many bona fide letters from numerous users in the United States, Canada, Mexico, England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Australia, New Zealand, Tasmania, India. These letters are from people in every station of life, clergymen, physicians, lawyers, merchants, society ladies, etc., and tell the truth about the benefits to be derived from the use of this wonderful little device. You will find among them the names of people in your own town or State, and you are at liberty to write to any of them you wish and secure their opinion as to the merits of the only scientific ear drums for restoring the hearing to its normal condition.

Write to-day and it will not be long before you are again hearing. Address, for the free book and convincing evidence, Wilson Ear Drum Co., Todd Building, Louisville, Ky., U. S. N.
